MEMORIES THAT LAST FOREVER

Lisa receives her Scholarship.

"Hey, we finally made it!"

"Hey Steve, what's so funny?"

TWENTY YEARS LATER

Here it is in the year, 1997, twenty years since I graduated from good 'ole Hayes Center High. How time flies. I, Taunya Counce, have inherited Jay Paul Getty's money. I am now planning a trip that shall take me to visit each of my former classmates.

The United Airlines 747 jet lands at my mansion. I board and go directly to the plane's recreational room. There playing foosball is Mark Cox. He tells me he has become an accomplished foosball champ.

As our flight took off I was amazed to see a familiar face walking down the aisle. Sure enough, it was good 'ole Danny Loomis. He was selling fruit to the passengers. We had a delightful visit and he told me I should visit the pilot during my first chance.

Cruising along at 3,000 miles an hour, I decided to go chat with the pilot. I was very surprised to see Gilbert Wilson behind the controls.

Our first stop landed at the Hayes Center International Airport. As I got off the plane, I saw Stewart Fielding boarding his Amtrack, which was headed for L.A. Unfortunately, we didn't get chance to visit. I didn't find any other classmates in Hayes Center right then, so I took off in my plane again.

Then we flew to Colorado, where I visited "Big Bud's Bike Barn." Yep - that was what Bud Garrett always wanted, his own bike shop.

The plane took off again and headed for England. When we landed at the Queen's palace, I spotted Mike Soncksen mowing the lawn on his 4-wheel drive tractor and right across the English Channel was William Allen Clifford III, King of France. I was shocked to see he had reached such heights. Bill had invited me to attend Frances' Big Circus and to my surprise I saw Earl McNutt running the Putt-Putt cars down the Midway.

From France I journeyed back to the United States and landed in New York. I had heard through the grapevine that there was a big Basketball game at the coliseum. As I walked in the door I was stunned to see Sam Peterson coaching the New York Nicks, starring Steve Bixler and Kevin Heinrich. When the game was over I saw Nancy Schneider in the crowd with her husband.

Then I bought a limousine and went to Massachusetts and visited Lisa Anderjaska at Harvard University. She had become a very scatterbrained professor. I didn't get a chance to talk to her because she was sick with a migrain headache.

I then returned to my jet and flew to Wyoming. I visited the Lazy M ranch. There Susan McKillip was having a brainstrom trying to take care of her eight children. I left Sue and headed for Dallas. I saw Rick Bodeman riding his mechanical bull and then I saw him get bucked off.

I then traveled up to Oklahoma, where I heard Evil Lynn Hamilton was in the hospital with 847 broken bones. He had attempted to jump the Red River, but, unfortunately he had failed.

I got back on my plane and went to Kearney, Nebraska. There I visited Kim Fornoff. She was running Orville's Sporting Goods Store, selling orthopedic track shoes.

Another hop, skip, and a jump and I was off into Wauneta. I visited with Christine Porter and her husband. They were running a very successful pig farm.

I returned to Hayes Center again and found Cherri Curran. She had just returned from a trip around the world and was living with her husband and ten children.

After I had visited all my classmates, I returned home to my mansion in California, almost broke and very exhausted, but glad to see all my great classmates and what great ones they are!!!

When is the deadline? . . . Yesterday?
Where are the pictures?
Are you really going to use that paper-cutter? . . . On his neck?
Listen, we work hard . . . sometimes.
I can't decide which picture to use.
You didn't tell me you were going to take that.
Smile . . . You're on candid camera!

I'd Like to Teach the World to Sing . . .

HOMECOMING

October 15, 1976, Homecoming '76-''77, was a beautiful, warm night made even warmer with a 48-6 victory over the Stratton Bulldogs. The half-time show put on by the Cardinal Marching Band, helped set the theme for the dance by playing ''Rock-Around-the-Clock'' and ''Happy Days'' The traditional ''Pomp and Circumstance'' was played while the Royalty walked onto the football field. The new King and Queen, Bill Clifford and Sue McKillip, were crowned by last year's royalty, Mick Cox and Cynthia Fornoff. After a good game, dancing was enjoyed at the Elementary Gym to the music of ''Madgic'' with the theme ''Happy Days.''

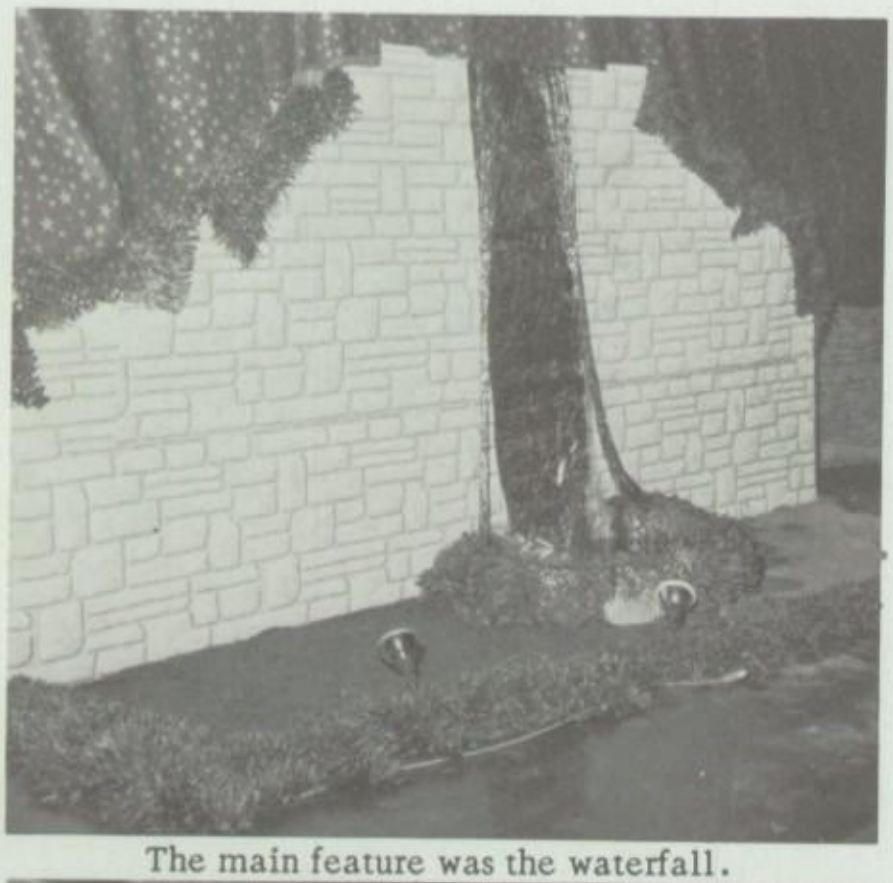
JR.-SR. PROM

"Blue Earth" set the pace for Jr.-Sr. Prom on April 16, 1977. The Jr. class chose the theme "We May Never Pass This Way Again." The setting was a night sky with stars and moon and a real waterfall and wishing well. Jr. also chose 8 sophomores to serve the meal. FROM LEFT TO RIGHT: Rod Kerchal, Dana Lacey, Ryan Patterson, Jackie Orman, Dennis Spickelmier, Melanie Cox, Brad Soncksen, Connie Rutherford.



The main feature was the waterfall.
